Coach House Players presents 'Pride and Prejudice'

"Pride and Prejudice," based on the novel by Jane Austen, opens a six-performance run on Friday, July 7, at 7:30 p.m. at Coach House Players, 12 Augusta St., Kingston.

In England, Mr. & Mrs. Bennett have raised five daughters — Jane, Elizabeth, Mary, Kitty and Lydia — with the purpose of one of them marrying a rich husband who can support the family. They are not from the upper class, and their house will be inherited by a distant cousin if Mr. Bennett dies.

When the wealthy bachelor Mr. Bingley and his best friend Mr. Darcy arrive in town to spend the summer in a nearby mansion, the shy and beautiful Jane falls for Mr. Bingley. Elizabeth finds Mr. Darcy a snobbish and proud man and she swears to loathe him forever. This is the beginning of their wonderful love story.

Directed by Coach House member David Rubenstein, the cast includes Peter Pius and Marie Dusault as Mr. & Mrs. Bennett, Lara Acevedo as Lydia, Anna Harold as Jane, Akasha Davis as Catherine, Bellanora
